MINIMUM ORDER: 1000 bulbs (250 or multiples of 250 per variety). Quotations on large quantities on request. In smaller quantities for counter sales, see assortments offered in our S-U-S Cases Pages 6 & 7.

SHIPPING DATES: We can make bulk shipments of Gladiolus bulbs the year round. Generally, Gladiolus bulbs are planted commencing early in the spring and successively throughout the spring and early summer. In the deep South bulbs are placed on sale commencing immediately after Christmas; elsewhere sales commence later, about 30 days prior to earliest spring planting dates. In Florida, South Texas, and the Gulf Coast, Gladiolus bulbs can be stocked for sale and planting in summer and early fall for fall and winter blooms. Flowers bloom 60 to 80 days from planting date and can withstand cold but not hard freezes.

PACKING: In sturdy shipping containers, gross weight 30-35 lbs. per case, color varieties carefully labelled.

COLOR VARIETIES

Below is a partial list of varieties most generally available from us. To avoid shipping delays, allowances should be made in case of "out of stock"; substitutions of varieties in colors ordered will be made if necessary, unless instructions to the contrary are received.

Growing in Popularity in Leaps and Bounds

Fancy Leaved Caladiums

Good Profit Makers for Bulb Sales or as Pot Plants

Although old-time garden favorites in some localities, Fancy-Leaved Caladiums only recently have commenced to gain the widespread popularity they so richly deserve. We know of no other garden or pot-plant that provides so much and such long-lasting beauty and satisfaction as gay colored and fascinating Fancy-Leaved Caladiums. A bed or border of these beautiful foliage plants rival in brilliance a planting of colorful tulips, yet their beauty lasts from spring until frost and in semi-tropical climate they have lasted as late as December and January. Now available in a wide range of spectacular varieties in silvery whites, brilliant reds, transparent rose and innumerable variegations, it is little wonder that interest and demand for Fancy-Leaved Caladiums has increased so rapidly in recent years. We believe that there is a great future for this most versatile foliage plant.

CALADIUM CULTURE

The Fancy-Leaved Caladium is a tuberous-rooted herb, at home in tropical forests as found in South America. It naturally grows best in warm temperatures, 90 degrees F. or more and will not perform satisfactorily below 70 degrees. For outdoor planting, the dormant tubers should be set out, when frost danger is past, about 2 in. deep and about 10 in. apart, in a semi-shaded location. Too much sun will burn the delicate varieties and too dense a shade will prevent full coloration. The soil should be rich, light and well drained. Ideal would be a mixture of 25% old rotted cow manure, 20% peat moss, 20% sand and 35% good loam. Leaf mold may be added for better results. Water sparingly at first to prevent rotting, then water freely when leaves appear but never let the soil become water-logged so as to seal out air cir-culatation. Caladiums can be started early indoors in flats or pots, one tuber to a 3 or 4 in. pot or several tubers in larger pots. When 3 or 4 leaves have developed, transplant outdoors or repot adding heavier soil. Indoors or out, Caladiums are heavy feeders; they need plenty of food and moisture, in loose, friable soil.

CARE OF TUBERS

Caladium tubers (or bulbs, as they are called) are sensitive to cold. They should never be kept in cold storage. If your bulbs arrive during cold weather, it is imperative that they be removed from the carton and packing material and spread thinly in trays in a warm location with good air circulation. This handling is desirable at all times.

Dahlia Culture

Dahlias should be planted after frost danger when ground warms in the spring. They need good garden soil, well fertilized and containing plenty of humus. Plant tubers about three feet apart each way.

PLANT TUBERS HORIZONTALLY in the hole about six inches deep. Cover about 2 inches and fill in hole as the shoots grow. Put stake in the ground at time of planting to avoid disturbing roots later. For Southern gardens especially, keep mulch around the plants to keep roots cool.

TO PRODUCE BEST BLOOMS on large types, pinch out all buds except center one on every lateral branch.

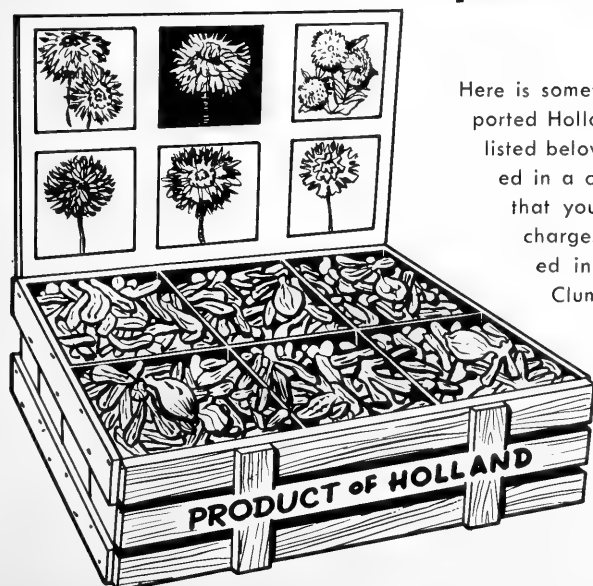

DIG PLANTS AFTER FIRST FROST KILLS TOPS. Cut tops off at once, dry tubers in sun then store in cool place where there is no danger of freezing.

Meade Strain Hybrid Amaryllis. Produces large, showy blooms in a wide range of colors.

AMARYLLIS

Giant Hybrid, Meade Strain, American

DELIVERY: October to March

The American-grown Meade Strain of Amaryllis (Hippeastrum) makes gorgeous giant blooms in colors ranging from near white (with thin pencil striping) through various shades of pink to deepest reds and candy stripes. They are used extensively in the South for outdoor planting and they are popular bulbs in the North for indoor growing in pots. For indoor flowering, the bulbs should be potted in a mixture of fibrous loam, leafmold and sand, with liquid manure applied during the blooming period. They may be potted as soon as available, with the shoulder of the bulb protruding from the soil. If kept at a fairly even temperature of 65 degrees F. they will develop a good vigorous root system. When the weather warms and after blooming, the potted plant can be placed in the soil outdoors and taken in again in the fall for flowering indoors. In mild climates bulbs may be kept outdoors in the ground from season to season; elsewhere they must be lifted and stored in dry sand through the winter months.

Imported Dutch Amaryllis

Widely publicized in the flower magazines and general publications, the new, improved Dutch Hybrid Amaryllis (Hippeastrum) are in good demand. For their mammoth, majestic blooms, up to 8" across, and superb color and form, they easily justify the premium prices which they command. The mammoth size bulbs which we import, measuring full 3 1/4"-3 1/2" in diameter, make several blooms to the stem and usually two stems per bulb. They make a truly sensational pot plant and the blooms are long lasting.

CALLA AETHIOPICA (White)

Most widely known of the Calla family, Calla Aethiopica produces large, white, waxy blooms, as pictured, on stems up to 2 1/2 feet. The leaves are a rich green, large and smooth, making a beautiful setting for the showy blooms. The white Calla is widely grown in pots for indoor blooms, also as a perennial outdoors in mild climates, and in the North for summer blooms in the garden. The bulbs can be potted as soon as available or stored and planted directly outdoors after frost danger. Callas like rich, moist soil.

LILIUM LONGIFLORUM (Easter Lily)

This is the familiar large, white, trumpet-shaped Easter Lily as pictured. In the mild climates of the South they are planted extensively outdoors late in the summer or early fall. Elsewhere they can be grown indoors in pots—usually one bulb to a six inch pot—and kept in a cool, dark place until the root system has developed and top growth begins to appear; they can then be brought in to full light.

Tuberous Rooted Begonias

Double Camellia Type

Tuberous-Rooted Begonias are fast becoming one of the most popular of summer flowering garden subjects with amateur gardeners in all parts of the country. Their showy blooms in many colors last throughout the summer until frost. As cut flowers they provide spectacular bowl arrangements. They are ideal for pot culture, porch boxes or outdoor bedding. They can be started early in damp peat moss or vermiculite and transplanted to 4- or 5-inch pots as growth starts, or if ground is warm they can be transplanted directly to beds outdoors, in a shady location. Recommended soil preparation: use two parts of good soil and rotted manure, two parts leaf mold or peat moss, one part sand; 3 lbs. bone meal to the bushel of mixture. We stock the most popular type, Double Camellia, in all colors.

Gloriosa Rothschildiana

Orange-Scarlet Climbing Lily

Also known as the Glory Lily, the Gloriosa Rothschildiana tuber produces a climbing plant which grows rapidly four to six feet tall, requiring trellis support. From 10 to 30 blooms of brilliant scarlet and yellow develop from a single tuber. The plant thrives in southern gardens, but is also grown in the North in greenhouses, and outdoors in warm locations during summer months.

The tubers should be planted in a bed of rich soil. Lay the tuber on its side with the sprout end about two inches under the soil and the more slender end somewhat deeper. The plant will grow in full sun or semi-shade.

LYCORIS, "Magic Lily of the Orient"

Lycoris is considered one of the rarest and most beautiful of bulbous flowers. The leaves appear early in the Spring, then die down and are followed in summer by large clusters of lily-like flowers, pleasantly perfumed. L. Squamigera, sometimes listed as Amaryllis hallii, also called the Mystery Lily, has fragrant blossoms of lavender rose. This is the most hardy and best known. L. Aurea, Golden Spider Lily or Hurricane Lily, produces bright orange-yellow blossoms and is best adapted for outdoor growing in the lower South but can be grown elsewhere under glass or with winter protection. L. Radiata, Red Spider Lily or Guernsey Lily, well known in the Gulf Coast region, is often treated as a pot plant. It produces small bright red blossoms in clusters.

CANNAS

Large, Strong, 3-5 Eye Divisions

The greatly improved varieties which produce not only rich, tropical-looking foliage, but large gorgeously colored flowers as well, are fast restoring Cannas to popularity. For ornamental bedding purposes, to make a beautiful display even from a distance, Cannas have no equal. They provide a colorful show from early summer until frost. They are easy to grow, but should have full sun. The roots may be planted directly outside after frost danger, or started early in pots and transplanted. Plant in well prepared soil, enriched with manure and bone meal; space 18 inches apart and plant four or five inches deep.
